

MANY DEMOCRATS WILL BE ON HAND

They Are Coming to Assist in Shaping Fight for Progressive Principles.

PLANS MATURING RAPIDLY

One of Big Features of Convention Will Be Secretary Bryan's Address.

Plans for the State convention of the Progressive Democratic League, which will be held in Richmond on Friday and Saturday next, are being rapidly matured by President John Garland Pollard and his aides. Mr. Pollard is enthusiastic over the outlook for the convention. He is receiving from all sections of the State letters from Democrats, announcing their intention of attending to assist in the work of mapping out a fight for the progressive principles contained in the League's platform.

The feature of the convention will be the appearance on the platform of Secretary of State William Jennings Bryan on Saturday night, February 23. The Secretary of State comes to Richmond to address the League on the subject, "Progressive Democracy." His appearance is taken to signify the interest of the Wilson administration in the progressive movement inaugurated by Attorney-General Pollard and supported by many of the Virginia political leaders, who have aligned themselves against the so-called "machine."

To Address Legislature.
On the morning of February 23, Secretary Bryan will address the General Assembly in the hall of the House of Delegates. According to a letter received from him yesterday he will arrive in Richmond from Washington on Saturday in time to speak before the Legislature at 1:30 o'clock. Following his address to the General Assembly, Secretary Bryan will be entertained by Governor Stuart at the Executive Mansion.

The Progressive Democratic convention will open on Friday night, when United States Senator Robert Owen, of Oklahoma, joint patron with Congressman Glass of the currency reforming organization, Attorney-General John Garland Pollard will preside at all sessions of the convention.

Congressman Andrew Jackson Montague has given definite assurance that he will attend the convention and take part in its deliberations. There is reason to believe that Congressman Carter Glass and Congressman William A. Jones will also be present. The list of Virginia speakers has not been completed.

Woman Arrested for Cutting.
Laura Lindsay, colored, was arrested yesterday on the charge of cutting Clarence Cabney, also colored, after they had quarreled while at work in a tobacco factory. She left the place after the assault, but was caught by Chesterfield County officers when she went to the home of her father near South Richmond. She was locked up at the First Police Station.

Hurt by Fall From Trolley.
Frank McCarty, of 70 East Marshall Street, was slightly hurt yesterday afternoon when he fell from a Forest Hill car at Seventh and Arch Streets. He was rendered emergency treatment by Dr. A. J. Weinstein, City Hospital ambulance surgeon, and removed to his home.

Paving in South Richmond.
The Administrative Board yesterday afternoon decided to let contracts for the smooth paving of Twelfth Street, South Richmond, which it is intended shall be paved through its whole length. Much of the paving to be done this week. It is announced that it will be done in South Richmond.

BOARD WANTS INFORMATION

Proposed Salary Increases Are Referred to Department Heads.

Various proposed ordinances to increase salaries of city officials were ordered yesterday by the Administrative Board to be referred to the heads of departments affected.

Those whose salaries it is proposed to increase are the assistant food inspector, to be increased to $1,000; stenographer of the Health Department, to $750; the fumigator of the Health Department, to $1,000; the second assistant superintendent of the Water Works, to $1,800; and the probation officer, to $1,200.

The Superintendent of the Water Works is directed to inform the board whether the position of second assistant superintendent will be necessary after South Richmond is supplied with settling bath water, and also to inform the board what increases in the past the second assistant superintendent has had.

FELD HOSPITAL BEING ORGANIZED

Captain Giles B. Cook Explains Objects of New Outfit to Prospective Recruits.

PART OF STATE MILITIA

Virginia Will Give Its Troops Latest Medical Equipment Issued by War Department.

Steps toward the organization of a field hospital in this city, as an adjunct to the Virginia militia, were taken last night by Captain Giles B. Cook, Medical Corps, who has been assigned to this duty by Adjutant-General W. W. Sale. A meeting was held in the temporary armory of the Richmond Grays' Battalion, on Capitol Street, and the aims and objects of the proposed outfit were explained to a number of men, who are considering enlisting for service in it.

A field hospital, as the name implies, is for use in the field, and is a movable unit housed wholly under canvas. Two to four are attached to an army division, or 10,000 men. It is not a part, however, of any organization, but is a separate unit, subject only to the orders of the commanding general, or chief sanitary officer of the division or brigade to which it is assigned.

The property of each field hospital consists of cots, bedding, mosquito netting, towels and kitchen facilities for patients, and in addition it has a fully equipped operating room, laboratory, pharmacy, water filter and acetylene gas plant. All of these stores can be compactly packed in eight army wagons, each drawn by four mules.

Personnel and Duties.

The personnel consists of five medical officers and thirty-three to fifty-seven enlisted men. Of the latter there will be sergeants, first class, sergeants, corporals and privates. The duties of these enlisted men at their home station will consist of weekly meetings on some determined night, at which time instruction will be given in first aid to the injured, transportation of patients with and without litters, and drilling as outlined for sanitary troops. During the summer encampment in the field at some designated manoeuvre camp is required.

In time of disaster the field hospital could be ordered out for duty, or when necessary, be called by the United States government, to come to the aid of the same as any other militia command. The summer encampments furnish a pleasant outdoor vacation of ten days.

Quarters were arranged for the field hospital in the Richmond Grays' Armory at Seventh and Marshall Streets, and they will be occupied as soon as the building is completed, which will be in less than two weeks. A fine gymnasium with baths will be provided for the men, and their rooms will be separate from those of the other commands housed in the huge structure.

The same requirements for enlistment as in any other branch of the service are asked of recruits in the medical corps. Only men between the ages of eighteen and thirty-five can be accepted. Those under twenty-one years must have the consent of father, mother or guardian.

Captain Cook will be in command of the field hospital. Upon its organization, he will be advanced to the rank of major. Four other officers—two captains and two first lieutenants—will be selected by him. Lieutenant Colonel Julius F. Lynch, of Norfolk, surgeon-general, Virginia Volunteers, is actively working in the interests of the hospital.

Grabs Money and Runs.
Joseph Kaminsky, a grocer of 128 West Leigh Street, last night reported to the police that while he was in the back part of his store an unidentified negro boy, about fifteen years old, ran in the place, grabbed a $5 note from the money drawer and ran out before he could catch him. When he reached the sidewalk, Kaminsky said, the thief had vanished.

HOW TO PREVENT GRIP

It Attacks Weak and Strong Alike—But There's a Remedy.

Grip and pneumonia attack the system quickly and with deadly results. They are especially dangerous at this season of the year when exposure to sudden and severe changes of the weather and atmospheric conditions are frequent. They are sure to attack the system run down from worry, overwork or exposure.

For more than fifty years Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has been recognized as a wonderful remedy in the prevention of coughs, colds, grip, pneumonia, and all diseases of the respiratory system known to medicine. It not only checks the ravages of the disease itself, but helps the stomach to more perfectly digest and assimilate food in order that the body may be powerful enough to resist the attack. BLUES DECIDE TO ESCORT GOVERNOR

Battalion Will Participate in Alexandria Parade on Monday. Howitzers May Go.

Although orders have not yet been issued, members of the Richmond Light Infantry Blues' Battalion have been informed that the battalion will go to Alexandria on Monday to act as escort to Governor Henry C. Stuart in his parade to the Washington Birthday Association. The Richmond Howitzers, to whom an invitation also has been extended, will decide to-night whether or not to accompany the Blues.

The parade will be one of the largest ever held in Alexandria, which has staged quite a few big ones. There will be more than 6,000 troops in line, the majority of them being regulars from Fort Myer and other posts. Sixteen bands have been engaged for the occasion. The parade will be led by the celebrated Marine Band of Washington.

A special train will be run from this city over the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad for the benefit of the local military companies. It will leave here early in the morning and probably will return at a late hour that night, in order that the members of the militia need lose only one day from their work.

While the trip will be optional with the members of the Blues and the Howitzers if they accept the invitation, it is expected that both commands will carry practically their full strength, as the occasion will be one of the most pretentious that they will be called upon to participate in for some time. The parade will be reviewed by President Wilson, Vice-President Marshall, Governor Stuart, and many other distinguished guests, among them being Dr. Cary Grayson, U. S. N., physician to the President; Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the President; Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, of the Navy Department; and a host of others.

PLAN TO COMPLETE GETTYSBURG GROUP

Sculptor Tells Commission That Monument May Be Unveiled Next Summer.

The commission in charge of the erection of a monument to the Virginia soldiers who were killed at the Battle of Gettysburg began the work of shaping plans for the unveiling of the Sievers bronze group on the battlefield next summer at a meeting held yesterday in the executive office of the Capitol. F. W. Sievers, the sculptor who has modeled the striking group and the equestrian statue of Lee, which is to surmount the monument, told the commission that he had every reasonable hope that the work will be completed in time for the unveiling exercises to be held at that time.

Rapid progress in the completion of the monument is being made, Mr. Sievers said. The stone pedestal has already been set in place on the battlefield and awaits the bronze figures. Mr. Sievers' remarkable group of Virginia soldiers, which is to decorate the base of the monument, has been cast into bronze and the casting is accepted by the commission. It will be shipped from the foundry to Gettysburg immediately.

Lee to Surmount Group.
The stone pedestal, the way of a rapid completion of the sculpture in the modeling of the equestrian statue of General Lee, which Mr. Sievers has determined shall represent the highest art of which he is capable. Although the statue is not yet finished, the studio nearly four years ago and has turned out the much-praised group Mr. Sievers has not been able to satisfy himself with his model of Lee and the Confederate chieftain's war steed. The model has been moulded, judged by Mr. Sievers' artistic standard, and knocked down by him as below the high mark at which he aims.

On examining its accounts the commission found that it would have no funds to conduct elaborate travelling exercises after paying for the monument. It therefore prepared a bill asking for $5,000 to cover the travelling expenses, which was introduced in the Senate to-day by Senators Edmondson and Harman.

Asks Police to Find Son.

GIRL'S ARREST FOR STEALING RING

Laura Brewer, Twenty Years Old, Alleged to Have Taken $500 Jewel From Traferi.

Laura Brewer, twenty years old, and possessing a childish beauty, was arrested last night by Detective-Sergeant Wiley at her boarding house in Broad Street, on the charge of stealing a diamond ring, valued at $500, from Chas. Traferi, an importer, of 509 West Main Street. A man, said to have been a companion of the girl, and implicated in the offense of which she is accused, had not been found at a late hour last night, and it was thought almost certain that he had left the city.

The manner in which the girl is said to have obtained the ring is unique. With the man, she called upon Traferi and asked to see certain apartments and flats he had for lease. He went with them to visit different rooms, and while he was showing them, the girl observed the large and brilliant stone he wore in the ring upon his finger. She commented upon its beauty, and that she might examine it to better advantage, he slipped it off and passed it over to her, and she continued to show her companion the good features of the apartment he was trying to rent.

In a few minutes he looked about for the girl, but she was not to be found, and while he was seeking her, the man also vanished. Traferi then lost no time in reporting the matter to the police. Wiley recovered the ring in a pawnshop where the man, who had given an assumed name, it was said, had disposed of it for $100. The police say that the girl gave it to the man.

The girl had but little to say when she was taken to police headquarters. She had in her possession two small diamond rings, a silver mesh bag, one turquoise ring, an ornamental ring, a gold locket and a cameo pin. The purse contained but 1 cent in cash. She was locked up at the First Police station on the charge of grand larceny, and will be arraigned in Police Court this morning. In the meantime every effort is being made by the police to find her missing companion.

The girl told Captain of Detective McMahon that she came to Richmond last December from Pittsburgh, but said that her home was in Bluefield, W. Va.

had been impounded by Gore to have the matter up.

Testifying in his own defense, Senator Gore characterized the allegations as "infamous lies," and asserted that the whole affair was the result of the plotting of a political enemy, and intended to embarrass him in his campaign for re-election. He declared that Mrs. Bond seized him, and at opportune moment, Robertson and Mitchell appeared in the room. Other witnesses for the plaintiff admitted that a "frame up" against Senator Gore had been arranged, and quoted arguments as having made threats to "get" the Senator.

Argument, which began yesterday, was finished at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Ten minutes later, the verdict exonerating Senator Gore was announced.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

AT A CALLED MEETING OF THE Richmond City Dental Society, held Monday evening, February 9, 1914, the following preamble and resolutions of sympathy were passed and recorded:

Whereas, our All-Wise Father has removed from our circle, at the very zenith of his usefulness, to a lowly man, our personal friend and honored professional brother, DR. HENRY C. EGLESTON, therefore, Be it resolved, That we, the members of the Richmond City Dental Society, utterly and profoundly express our grief and sorrow, desire to say to his family and friends that we, as individuals and as an organization, share in their bereavement and deeply sympathize with their sorrow.

Resolved, That while we shall miss him greatly and recognize that his death is to us, an irreparable loss, his example of diligence, gentleness and great skill will, as a memory, spur us on to greater and higher endeavor.

Resolved, That these resolutions be published in the daily papers and that this be spread on the minutes of our society.
